

Class 27: Mid-Semester Examination, Concluded

Held: Friday, April 6, 2007

Summary: We conclude our discussion of the mid-semester examination.

Related Pages:

- EBoard.

Notes:

- As you can tell, I've rearranged the syllabus again.
- If you have not submitted your comments on the Ruby readings, please do so ASAP.

Overview:

- Problem 3, Concluded.
- Problem 4.
- Presentations.

Exam Solutions, Continued

- We'll finish going over problem 3 (for real, this time).
- And we'll start going over problem 4.

Presentations

- The last two weeks of the semester are reserved for student presentations.
- You should form groups of three to give these presentations.
- You may choose almost any topic related to programming languages, but you must clear it with me first.
- You should plan a thirty-minute presentation.
 - If you want to use a different structure (e.g., a lab), please clear it with me first.
- You will be responsible for assigning a reading in advance.
- You should choose a topic by next Friday.
- ...